

phases of mine workers an average increase in excess of the increase in the cost of living, and certain other phases an average increase below the increase in the cost of living. The National Association of Adjustment was made in an effort to establish or reserve certain strike bases in the mining industry. I do not think this condition is a threat for coal in giving to mine workers an average increase in excess of the increase in the cost of living, imposing upon the public an average increase in excess of the increase in the cost of living, because if this course was adopted the result would be that the cost of coal for miners was selected and addressed to the public. Major was then called to the meeting of the miners' union, at which union officials presided. Major Dean explained to them that their strike, begun Monday, was in violation of the Indianapolis injunction not to strike. The vote was unanimous to end the strike Friday morning. The troops were sent to Carnegieville after reports had been received that the miners were planning to strike, and the mines. The fifty-two foremen arrested were taken without warrants, and no application for warrants had been heard. Prosecuting Attorney

ANGELES BEFORE COURT MARTIAL

Still Opposed to Carranza; Confident Justice Will Be Done

JUAREZ, Nov. 25.—Holding his enemy to President Venustiano Carranza, but expressing confidence that justice would be given to him, General Felipe Angeles, Villa leader, captured recently near Juarez, Chihuahua, was brought to trial before a court-martial at Chihuahua City today. The hearing will last at least three or four days, it was said. Three thousand tickets to the trial have been issued by General Manuel M. Dignez, commander of military operations in Northern Mexico, according to a report brought here tonight by a Chihuahua City newspaperman.

On his arrival at Chihuahua, General Angeles found awaiting him a telegram from Mrs. Angeles, who with her children, is in New York City.

"Whatever may happen to me," the rebel leader is quoted as saying, "I do not have to worry about my family. Mrs. Angeles and the children are provided for."

In a telegram to General Dignez, Mrs. Angeles asked that her husband be given every necessary attention, "so that he will not suffer."

Angeles presented a strange appearance as could be imagined from his capture. The Chihuahua newspaperman, who interviewed the rebel chief, said in a box car on the way to Chihuahua City last week, said tonight.

"He had two books, 'The Life of Napoleon' and 'The Life of Jesus Christ,' which he had been reading on the train. The only other thing he carried was a red blanket. His face was covered with long grey whiskers."

Angeles told me that when he was captured he had not eaten for six days. On his arrival at Carranza he was given a suit of clothes by order of General Dignez.

Two of the three men with Angeles have been executed. General Gabriel Garcia, former commander of the Juarez district, is head of the military board trying Angeles. Another member is General L. Gonzalo Escobar.

TELLS STORY OF KING AND ANDREW CARNEGIE

EDINBURGH, Nov. 25.—Lord Guthrie, the Scottish judge, has just made public some reminiscences of the late Andrew Carnegie, in which he disposes of a story which has long been current that Mr. Carnegie received the late King Edward at Skibo with the salutation, "Hi, fat King Eddy." Lord Guthrie tells what the story is based on as follows:

"At Dunrobin, not at Skibo, his late Majesty asked Mr. Carnegie to tell him about a great banquet given in Mr. Carnegie's honor at Pittsburgh. Mr. Carnegie mentioned that Joseph Miller, the American poet, had recited a poem in which he made Dr. Carnegie's own name coincide with the names of many more illustrious persons."

"The King asked: 'What did Miller say about me?'"

"Mr. Carnegie replied that he was afraid the poet's reference had not been very respectful."

"That was it," said his Majesty, and he laughed heartily when Mr. Carnegie had to admit that King Edward had been referred to as 'Fat King Eddy.'"

LET US GIVE THANKS

THANKSGIVING 1919.

ASTORIA, Ore., Nov. 25.—Property desired by the government for the establishment of a naval base at Tongue Point is to be appraised by a committee appointed today. The committee also will have charge of all the details in connection with acquiring the property and its preservation to the government.

LONDON, Nov. 25.—A Moscow wireless dispatch received here quotes the Pravda as saying the Soviet government is willing to negotiate peace with the Entente and the Imperials, but only on condition that the Entente should undertake not to support the counter-revolutionaries.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25.—Langdon Davis, a fraternal delegate from the Independent Labor Party of Great Britain, said that in England it no longer was a question of whether the coal mines would be nationalized. "The only question now is whether we will confiscate the mines or pay for them," he said.

BRITISH WOMEN ENTER MEDICINE

Dearth of Doctors Since War Gives Opportunity for Study

LONDON, Nov. 25.—Shortage of physicians in this country, which was greatly increased by the war, is giving women a golden opportunity to enter the medical profession. Hundreds of disabled war workers, especially nurses, are taking advantage of it.

Before the war, few facilities were offered English women for training as physicians and furthermore they encountered a prejudice on the part of all classes that was strong enough to deter even the most determined. That prejudice against "women doctors" was almost entirely swept away by the heroic and efficient medical service performed by women during the war.

Hospital schools of medicine from which women students formerly were barred and are now open to them. Many hospitals and other health institutions include women on their boards of management, and public positions which used to be filled only by men are now open to women doctors as well. Resident hospital posts have been made available for qualified women physicians, enabling them to secure extremely valuable experience.

Even Oxford and Cambridge, all the British universities have opened their medical degrees to women.

Dr. D. E. Arnold, after serving two years in Army in U. S. and France, has opened offices at 129 Mason Bldg. Phone 439.

THANKSGIVING AGAIN NORMAL

For the first time since 1913 we face the annual day of thanks with something approaching normal spirit. To be sure, we are far from normal yet. Most of the world is bankrupt, and a considerable part of it is starving. It is still a question whether civilization, rescued from one menace, is safe against another. Even the drunken prosperity of America is abnormal, and we have yet to see when and in what way we shall pay our share of the world's loss. The great spiritual uplift of the war is gone, and we are at the ebb of a cynical reaction. The pharisaic attitude, which it took us four years to overcome, has already returned; we are chiefly thankful that we are not as other men are, and are fiercely determined to remain so. We give thanks for the things of the belly, and scarcely even pray for the things of the spirit. Definitely, we were better off when we were straining in the sacrifices of war than we are now, gorged with its spoils. It is not an inspiring Thanksgiving Day.

And yet it is better than it seems. Even with its reactions, we should be thankful for peace. Even with its sordidness, we should be thankful for prosperity. And, even if it has its selfish side, we should be thankful for our comparative safety against the storms which beat upon the social structure of Europe. Peace, prosperity and safety are enervating, and just now we are suffering from their spiritual reaction, but even at their worst, they are better than war, privation and danger. They are the only permanent foundation for the very spiritual progress which temporarily they inhibit. And, at any rate, they are normal. In its good aspects and in its bad, we face this Thanksgiving Day, for the first time in years, normally.

GERMAN PROPAGANDA

Volume I of the "Littlebooks Library," appropriately bound in pirate black, is at hand. It is a brochure by Philip Francis, who proudly announces that he and not Arthur Brisbane wrote all the war editorials for the Hearst newspapers, entitled "The Poison in America's Cup." It pretends to be a warning against British propaganda, but actually it is itself the most vicious sort of German propaganda. Francis insists that he is not pro-German. He refuses to say anything in favor of the German government except that it was as good as the British government, or of the German cause except that it was as good as the American cause. He recognizes that great wrongs were done during the war, but the only ones he mentions are the wrongs committed by England against America and by America against Germany. He argues that we were inveigled by England into going into a senseless war against Germany, and that England, having wheedled us into helping her destroy Germany as her commercial rival, will now wheedle Japan into helping her destroy us, after which she will attend to Japan alone, and so stand unrivaled mistress of the world. England is directly plotting to undo our Revolution, and to reannex us to the British Empire. All the college professors and newspapers which advocate the League of Nations or deprecate the Sinn Fein propaganda in America are bought thereby with British gold. The remedy is to stand absolutely for "America Alone," and to keep out of European affairs. The two essential steps to this end are to cultivate friendly relations with Germany, and to take aggressive steps to free Ireland. England will probably be too scared to risk war against us, to hold Ireland, but if she does we can lick England and Japan combined, and should proceed to do it. They should inaugurate a peaceful revolution in America, by repealing the Constitution of the United States, abolishing the President, the Supreme Court and Congress, and conferring all governmental power on a single representative "chamber," whose members should be elected to represent not states, districts or communities, but occupational groups and social classes. An ideal Congress, under this system, would contain 500 members; 165 farmers, 15 miners, 35 railroad workers, 140 mechanics, 50 members of other trades, 20 professional men, 50 cooks, waiters and domestic servants, and 25 clerks, each group elected by the members of its own occupation. They should exercise or determine all legislative, executive and judicial functions.

Of course the book, simply as a personal production, is too foolish for serious notice. But it is serious for two reasons. One is that the author is chief editorial writer for the most widely circulated chain of newspapers in America. The man who could write this foolish and treasonable book, the moment it became safe to do so, is the man who, throughout the war, had addressed more Americans daily on war issues than any other man in it. He did not say all these things in his papers, but he said as many of them as he dared, and he skillfully insinuated the rest.

The other is that there is an organization in New York, financed somehow, to publish a whole series of books of which this is the first sample. If there is subsidized propaganda anywhere, this is one of the clearest evidences of it.

A foolish man and a foolish book become important when they are thus representative.

Since he has himself chosen to emerge from his newspaper anonymity, it becomes permissible to recall this Phil Francis' career as a newspaper wrecked. We remember him first as editor of the Stockton Mail, more than twenty years ago. He wrote, on it, very brilliant but very erratic editorials. By the time he finished, the paper was on the rocks and barely escaped bankruptcy. He then went over to Santa Cruz and established a personal sheet, which was suppressed by the postal authorities after the second issue. After doing hack work for the Southern Pacific for a time, some of it in Fresno, he disappeared for about ten years from human ken. When he reappeared he announced that he had been in Alaska, where he said that he had made and lost two fortunes. He was re-employed on the Stockton Mail, and when he finished the Mail was bankrupt. It was afterward absorbed by one of its competitors. He went to San Francisco and wrote editorials for the Morning Call. When he finished, the paper was bankrupt and was sold to its competitors, who suspended its publication as a morning paper. He then became editorial writer for the San Francisco Examiner, but under the strict discipline of an able publisher, who told him what to write, and saw to it that he wrote exactly this, and nothing else. Under these limitations he made a very brilliant career as a word-smith—so brilliant that he attracted the attention of Hearst and was transferred to New York. There, unfortunately, he was given a freer hand, with the result that, on the first day of the second Liberty Loan, which the Hearst papers celebrated with a frantic full-page editorial opposing that loan, things had gone so far that the Hearst papers themselves were within one day of wreckage. If the thing had gone on one day longer, it was generally understood to be exceedingly likely that the papers would have been suspended, with their proprietor in jail. An overnight somersault of policy, supplemented by some political deals, just saved the catastrophe, and the Hearst papers went on, in mock patriotism, telling the American people all the things which Francis now says were lies. The moment the war ban was lifted, the old policy was renewed, and now comes Francis, in a book, revealing the whole mental attitude behind it.

It is an interesting career which thus just escaped its most dramatic fiasco, and whose motives are thus frankly exposed.

If Francis should now be transferred, on a part-time basis, to the express German propaganda, we commend this record to his newest masters. We wish him personally no ill, but if his consistent hoodoo can finally overtake and overthrow the German propaganda itself, he will thereby have rendered the first great public service of his life.

SHOULD DEMAND HEARING

In a petition to enjoin the Board of Health from holding a hearing to investigate its affairs, a Fresno slaughter house company recited that the public taking of testimony on the subject would disastrously affect its business. Not on this ground, probably, but on the legal question of jurisdiction, the injunction was granted. And now comes, from the standpoint of the slaughter house concerned, the same evil in even worse form, by the public filing with the Board of Health of specific charges by the city veterinarian, and by the suspension of its inspection privileges. Certainly the assertion of these charges, unadvised and unexplained, is at least as injurious as a public hearing could have been, with the answers and testimony against those charges also given.

All of which is to the general point that the only way to face an issue is to face it. The law sometimes gives ways to keep out of court, but where matters of reputation are involved, it is usually a very bad policy to take advantage of them. The safest rule is the army code, according to which, if charges are made even by innuendo against an officer, he shall be the one to demand and force a trial on them. In the own interest, this Kauffman slaughter house should insist on an immediate trial, somewhere, before somebody, whether the body is with or without authority and jurisdiction, where all the evidence on both sides can come out. The city veterinarian charges, and claims to have evidence to prove, that cattle and hogs, condemned as diseased or even dead of disease, were sneaked out of the fertilizer works, after hours, fraudulently stamped, and sold for human food. If these charges are true, the proof of them could do no more business harm than the filing of them undenied, and the administrative action of the city veterinarian will do. If they are not true, or if there is any doubt of their truth, then the city veterinarian has evidently been imposed on by malicious persons who should be exposed and condemned. There is only one course open, either for honor or for business safety. That is to have a hearing of some sort, which will bring out all the evidence.

NOT PARTY, BUT FACTION

The platform of the new Labor party, adopted at Chicago, demonstrates that the party, far from representing labor, stands for only one of its most radical factions, and not at all for the majority faction, best represented by the American Federation of Labor. Not half of that platform could pass the American Federation of Labor, even in theory, and much of it has been actually rejected by the Federation, by vote. Still less would it be approved by the more conservative part of unorganized labor. It would not be accepted by any responsible Labor party in Western Europe, Australia or New Zealand, the places in which Labor parties are best established. And of course it does not even invite the support of any except industrial manual laborers. It would be a minority party, even with that class support, and it is a minority even of that class. Democratically, therefore, it is negligible.

In fact, this Labor party represents only one faction of the radical part of the labor group, and represents none of the conservative part. It represents the state socialist end of the radicals, omitting all the industrial socialists, all the direct-actionists, and of course all the conservatives. It would do more radical things than the conservatives wish to undertake, and it would do them all through the machinery of the state, which neither the industrial socialists nor the direct-actionists desire. It is not a labor party, but is merely one of several factions of the most extreme radical end of the labor group. As such, it will get the support that belongs to it—which is a small fraction of the labor vote and a negligible fraction of the whole people.

MEXICO MAKING PROGRESS

The director-general of national railways points to the reconstruction work under way and accomplished as indication of the extent to which Mexico is getting on its feet. He says new steel and ties are being laid on the main line from the City of Mexico to Laredo. The steel is obtained from Monterrey Iron and Steel Works, and the ties come from various domestic lumber mills. Several new stations are under the course of construction and new shops and roundhouses are nearly completed at Saltillo. The district through which that line runs is east of the area in which Villa and his followers have been most active. The director-general contends that the government practically has put the line back into the state of efficiency existing before the beginnings of the various revolutions that have kept Mexico in a turmoil since the day of Diaz. He further explains that Villa's activities in recent months have not been sufficiently serious to prevent much reconstruction work in Chihuahua, which that bandit is supposed to control. A rehabilitated railway system would be first class evidence of Mexican progress, as well as the first essential to permanent peace and security. Much of Mexico has been due to inability of the central government to move troops or supplies to the areas affected. Mexico needs usable railways to fight its outlaws and to carry prosperity to its people. If it is getting them, it is making real progress.—Indianapolis Star.

Twenty Years Ago
A very important meeting of the representatives of the ditch companies using water from Kings river was held yesterday afternoon to consider the matter of building reservoirs in the mountains for the purpose of storing water. The meeting was undoubtedly the result of the recent agitation of the matter of securing the construction of public reservoirs by either state or federal aid.

The gathering was as follows: Alta Irrigation district—W. P. Dunn and H. D. Barton. Emigrant and Fowler Switch—T. C. White and J. C. Moore. Centerville and Kingsburg Ditch Company—J. P. Clark and J. W. Ryse. People's Ditch Company—S. B. Hicks and W. V. Taylor. Murphy's Slough Association—C. L. Adams and J. W. Downing. Fresno Canal and Irrigation Company—L. A. Nares and John McLaughlin.

L. A. Nares was chosen chairman and W. H. Hughes secretary. It was decided to assess each company for the purpose of making preliminary surveys.

THE EXACT TERMINOLOGY

The proprietor of a grocery store, changed to glass on the plate-glass window and saw a small boy lingering around a barrel of apples exhibited in the show.

"What are you doing?" he asked the boy, going to the door. "What are you doing?" "Nothing," he answered the boy, with his eye still fixed on the barrel.

"Nothing, eh?" he asked, returning to the man. "Are you trying to steal some of these apples?" "No, sir," answered the youngster. "I'm trying not to—this is Sunday."

HISTORY AT WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 26.—When President Wilson, because of his illness, received the king of the Belgians while propped up in bed, and told the Prince of Wales that the bed in which he lay had been occupied by Baron Renfrew, later King Edward VII, and Abraham Lincoln, he added traditions to the host that already cling about the White House.

PICTURES AID IN MISSIONARY WORK

The description and moving picture screen and the wall picture have been found to be one of the best means of Christianizing the women of the Orient, according to reports received from American missionaries in the Interchurch World Movement, whose national headquarters are in New York City.

The value of the pictorial feature of evangelistic work in the Orient lies in the fact that it enables missionaries to reach the women who cannot read or write and so per cent of Oriental women are said to be illiterate. Moreover, the best subjects are the old pictures of women, particularly for pictures of children. This is because of the fact that there is an evaluation of child and motherhood in Chinese prints. In fact, I have never seen a Chinese picture of a mother and child together. The reason, priests of the Madonna and drawings from American magazines are very valuable. By comparison, the pictures of women can bring to Oriental households a conception of occidental family life. In our school at Hubei, which is principally for married women, each pupil upon entrance is given such a picture and it soon becomes one of her most treasured possessions.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

NO DANIEL FOR THE WETS

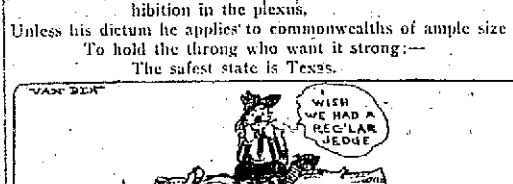

The day a learned, erminent gerd declared that beer of four percent might be supplied to folks inside
The confines of Rhode Island,
A host of thirsting lager steers set down their steins of kickless brews
To ululate:—"There's one wet state
In all this oceans dry land!"

And, like the Exodus of old, the madding rush for Klondike gold,
Or that wild throng that tore along
Hard on the heels of Hector,
From all the South and West and North a swarm of souses hurried forth,
To gain the spot where might be got
A draught of malted nectar.

The influx soon became intense in Newport, Wakefield, Providence,
From old Watch Hill to Olneyville,
Men swarmed in legions frantic,
And when the worried little state (which measures only six by eight)
Put up the bars, long lines of cars
Stood stalled to Wiliamantic.

Hereafter any erminent gerd who raises beer to four percent Won't strike a blow that walllops Prohibition in the plexus.
Unless his dictum he applies to commonwealths of ample size
To hold the throng who want it strong:—
The safest state is Texas.

BOLSHEVISTS AMONG NORSE SOCIALISTS

LONDON, Nov. 24.—(By the Associated Press.)—A strong Bolshevik element in Norwegian Socialistic circles is reported by a Scandinavian correspondent. The Moderate Socialist leader, Lian, was obliged to swallow this demand, but he made the qualification that the Bolsheviks should go no further than preventing the employment of the military against working men.

"Naturally the party is strongly anti-militarist; some months ago it formally ordered the constitution of Bolsheviks by all men liable for army service. The Moderate Socialist leader, Lian, was obliged to swallow this demand, but he made the qualification that the Bolsheviks should go no further than preventing the employment of the military against working men."

BRITISH RESENT HOLDING SHIPS

Ought United States to Combine Tankers and Liners' Issue

LIVERPOOL, Nov. 26.—The Post says diplomatic negotiations are proceeding to bring matters to a head, owing to the attitude of the United States shipping board in refusing to hand over the seven re-registered German liners, which action is said to be due to dissatisfaction with the decision of the supreme council, allocating the German tankers to France, Belgium and Italy. The newspaper says there is really no connection between the question of the liners and the tankers.

It was, it appears, the Post continues, "without full official knowledge of the exact inner history of this matter, that the shipping board has put the British government to a very considerable expense and delayed the process of repatriation for reasons that can hardly be defended."

Marguerite Clark

We were quite impressed yesterday with the "Widow by Proxy" as played by Marguerite Clark at the Kineas—and our impressions? Mostly those of curiosity as to whether the diminutive and dainty Marguerite is afraid to grow up. We, as the gentle (?) critic, wonder if the actress got our famous little star excited, would not have been more convincing in her role of music teacher, had she not dressed so juvenile, even more so than the majority of her pupils. Of course, an ingenue sailor blouse and curls are quite becoming, comfortable, too, no doubt, for tennis, golfing, etc.—but for the tremendous accomplishments that Marguerite got by with—no, imagine a little more dignity would have put it across to the spectators just a little better. It would take more than a sailor blouse outfit and a pretty pout to perform the wonders credited to Gloria Grey.

Rural Resident Answers Query; He Owns a Ford

"I'm the man who owns a Ford and lives ten miles from Fresno." This is the response received by letter at the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce following the appeal issued by Director of Publicity Guy E. Leonard for a man answering the above description. Now the question is: Is he the right man?

Several days ago the chamber received an inquiry asking for the name of a man who owned a Ford, who lived ten miles from Fresno near a newly completed schoolhouse, and who had a ranch, nearly all alfalfa, with several other points equally identifying. The man was called into the breach and, disclaiming all right to be termed a detective agency, the chamber asked aid in locating the man. The letter has been received and now officials at the chamber are waiting for others, for there must be more than one man who owns a Ford and lives ten miles from Fresno.

NAME HIGHWAY COMMITTEE
HANFORD, Nov. 26.—A sub-committee of the streets and highways committee of the Board of Trade to look into the matter of the old home, highway, and to Sierra-to-the-Sea highway, and to take up directly with the state highway commission, the subject of immediate action on the construction of this highway, which for some reason, it is said, seems to be dragging. F. V. Dewey, Senator J. L. Sprink, Assemblyman O. L. Odell, C. F. Sprink and Supervisor Frank Smith were the five named.

INCREASE GRAIN MINIMUM LOADS

Step Is Taken to Aid in Present Shortage of Cars

For the purpose of increasing efficiency and to aid in meeting the shortage prevalent over the entire United States, the minimum for shipments of all grains has been increased to 40,000 pounds by the United States railroad administration, according to a revised tariff received by Frank M. Hill, secretary-manager of the Traffic Association of Fresno.

This new ruling applies with slightly different figures to shipments of grain products, according to the tariff. Previously, the minimum on both grain and grain products was 20,000 pounds and this minimum, it is stated, provoked a waste of car capacity.

On all kinds of grain, the new ruling reads as follows:

The minimum weight will be the marked capacity of the car, except where the marked capacity is less than 40,000 pounds, in which case the capacity will be 40,000 pounds. In other words, the minimum shipment will be 40,000 pounds and if the car capacity is greater, that amount of grain must be shipped, according to Hill's explanation.

The new ruling on grain products is not so clear, but in effect it makes the minimum shipment for products 20,000 pounds, except in cases where the marked capacity is less, but not less than 40,000. When a car is loaded to full capacity, the actual weight will apply.

The reason for the change in the new tariff schedule is embodied in the administration in the following excerpt: "The minimum weights are established for the purpose of increasing car efficiency and thereby to assist in meeting the car shortage which now exists throughout the United States in the transportation of grain and the products thereof and will continue during the present emergency."

It is the belief of Hill that this ruling will do much toward assisting in the present crying shortage of cars for grain shipments as it will tend to use the full capacity of cars and that it will be to the interests of the shippers to send a full car as the rates will be computed on the minimum basis.

Fourteen Couples' Given Licenses for Holiday Weddings

Thanksgiving day weddings are decidedly in vogue this year as evidenced by the fact that the county marriage license bureau issued fourteen passports into the land of Cupid yesterday. This is the largest number of licenses issued in any one day for many weeks.

The war and the part of John D. Miller as a soldier in the conflict was responsible for the re-marriage of the ex-doughboy and his former wife, Jeanie Miller. The couple were divorced about four years ago. A reconciliation followed his return from overseas. A license for their re-marriage was among those issued yesterday.

Licenses issued were as follows:

- Owens-Shaffard — William E. Owens, 27, to F. Jewell Shaffard, 35, both of Dinuba.
- Hoffman-Dickie — J. C. Hoffmann, 27, to Y. Pay Dickie, 22, both of Fresno.
- Wells-Reitz — George Wells, 25, to Anna M. Reitz, 19, both of Fresno.
- Pennington-Smith — Charles Pennington, 31, to Margaret M. Smith, 20, both of Fresno.
- Odell-Wassett — Robert D. Odell, 25, to Tulare to Olga M. Wassett, 21, of Treedley.
- Nash-Hadden — George Nash, 24, to Cleo Hadden, 22, both of Selma.
- Ellis-Gentry — Jasper C. Ellis, 23, to Letha Gentry, 19, both of Fresno.
- Miller-Miller — John D. Miller, 28, to Jennie Miller, 26, both of Fresno.
- Wasson-Hassinger — Harry J. Wasson, 42, to Corrie Hassinger, 42, both of Selma.
- Burton-Brooks — Vayle A. Burton, 28, to Stella M. Brooks, 29, both of Toll House.
- Parker-Gebhart — Harry Parker, 42, of Selma to Esther Gebhart, 39, of Fresno.
- Will-Bier — Carl Will, 21, to Annie Bier, 22, both of Fresno.
- Jensen-Sorenson — Nella Jensen, 24, to Penille Sorenson, 27, both of Parlier.
- Pyle-Mordant — Lemontia Pyle, 24, to Violet M. Mordant, 19, both of Fresno.

Armenians to Hold Mass Meeting Today

An Armenian mass meeting at the city auditorium this afternoon at 1:30 will be addressed by S. Salakh Gullian, editor of the Erlassaid Ilayusian, which is published at Chicago, and also M. Kabadjian, the managing of the paper.

The meeting is under the auspices of the local Social Democrat Hunkchakist party, the speakers dealing with the Armenian question.

LEGION PLANS AID IN DRIVE

"Old-Tire" Day Decided Upon at Conference of Committee

Plans whereby the American Legion will assist in the work of the American Red Cross in the sale of Christmas seals and in raising funds for the tubercular relief drive were perfected yesterday when the committee appointed at a recent meeting of the legion met with Mrs. E. L. Tate-Thompson, executive secretary of the California Tuberculosis Association and Mrs. W. A. Fitzgerald. These ladies presented the work which the association is doing at the last meeting of the legion.

Decision was reached at the conference to hold an "old-tire" day, or in reality two days when Legion members would gather all old tires, salvage them and donate the money to the general fund. The dates selected for the collection are December 13 and 20. It is probable that some spot such as the court house park, if this site can be secured, will be announced as the place where old tires can be brought and taken charge of by the Legion members. This idea for Legion cooperation was advanced by Dr. E. M. Johnston at the last Legion meeting, and when presented at the committee meeting yesterday, met with the approval of the ladies. Dr. Johnston stated that it has met with good results when tried elsewhere and that he has seen a pile of old tires larger than a house as the result of one day's concerted drive. It is expected that by means of this "old-tire" sale a considerable sum will be secured for donation to the cause.

Members of the Legion committee are E. M. Johnston, chairman; Nell Ellis, secretary of the Legion; Jeff Yeretian and Bert Taylor.

The committee announced following the meeting that the full particulars of the collecting would be made public later.

CITY TO UNITE IN COMMUNITY SERVICE

All Creeds of Fresno to Join in Thanksgiving Program

Special Musical Program
Arranged by Prof.
Earl Towner

Fresno's Thanksgiving Community Service will be celebrated at the Civic Auditorium this morning at 10:30 o'clock. The service will be non-sectarian and persons of all creeds are invited to attend. Last year a similar service was held with much success.

Musical of excellence will be rendered under the direction of Professor Earl Towner. Towner is especially noted for his excellent interpretation of church music and accepted the leadership upon a personal request of Mayor Toomey.

John P. Austin will preside at the meeting and a collection will be taken up under the direction of William Glasse.
The entire proceeds will be given to the Warfare League.

Program of Services
The program as announced to start promptly at 10:30 is as follows:

Invocation.....Rev. M. H. Knadlian
Prayer.....Rev. P. C. H. Stevens

President's Proclamation read by Rev.
C. R. Richert.

Hymn.....Rev. T. T. Clifton
Hymn, "America".....Rev. J. B. Travis
Benediction.....Rev. J. B. Travis
Prayer....."March".....Lammens
Churches to Co-operate

"Nearly every church in the city is to co-operate with the city officials. Services are being held in many of the churches earlier than usual to give the churchgoers a chance to attend both services."

The only service at St. James Pro-Cathedral will be a celebration of Holy Communion at 7:30 a. m. The church community at 10:30 is as follows:

Thanksgiving services will be held at the Christian Science church at 11
a. m. today.

At St. John's Catholic church special Thanksgiving services will be held at 8:30 and 9 a. m.

A special Thanksgiving service will be given at St. Alphonsus Church at 11 a. m. The mass will be a High Mass and the sermon will be preached by Chaplain Francisco J. Roemer, recently returned from the Italian front.

Correct information as to the present whereabouts and occupation of Fred J. Behre, photographer, formerly of Oakland, Cal., who married the widow of Frank E. McClain, of Fresno, is most eagerly desired and will be well paid for by his former wife Louise M. Behre, 1231 Ellis St.
San Francisco, Calif.

PLANNED BADGER GAME ON DOCTOR

Startling Charge Made by Wife of Former Doughboy

Charges that her husband sought to take her into a badger game plot against a prominent Fresno physician with the avowed intention of extorting the sum of $2000 from the latter are contained in an amended complaint filed by Laura Zema in a divorce action against Henry Zema.

Hearing of the divorce suit will be the second appearance of the Zemas in court in a short period of time.
Recently Zema, a former soldier, pressed an action against Dr. H.
Havens, a well-known rancher, for the breast of Mrs. Zema's affection.

Zema, who charged Havens with seducing the love of his young wife while he was fighting overseas, sought heavy damages from the rancher. The case was taken up for advisement and the decision has not yet been announced by the court.

Mrs. Zema alleges her husband, after securing her of intimate relation with the unnamed medical doctor, sought to induce her to lure the doctor to their apartments at 1521 Van Ness avenue. The plan suggested, she said, was for her to make up to the doctor at a moment when Zema would burst into the room.

Zema, she declares, intended to demand $3000 in cash from the doctor and in case of a refusal to sue for alienation of affections and "to sue for enough to make it worth while."

Mrs. Zema asks the court for alimony of $15 a month and attorney's fees. She says he is a low-down scoundrel capable of earning a salary of $1500.
The Zemas were married on May 17, 1918, and separated on June 25, 1919, after the husband's return from military service.

MORE ARMY FOOD BEING SHIPPED

Three More Cars Army Food May Be Placed on Sale Saturday

A message was received yesterday from the United States War Department at the Quartermaster Department in the Presidio, stating that three cars of food had been shipped to Fresno yesterday containing army goods. The message stated that the consignment would probably reach Fresno Friday evening.
The cars contain the following articles: first car, small sized cans tomatoes, second car, mixed size cans
E-tomatoes, canned meat, 400 cases canned third car, foot-blankets, cotton.

These articles will be placed on sale at the Auditorium Saturday morning if they arrive Friday. Should they not arrive Saturday, they will be placed on sale until Monday morning.

The most shipment from Chicago and East will be here in the very near future, states the mayor. The shipment consists of two cars of beef, mutton and pork.

COMMITTEES IN CHAMBER WORK SELECTED

Industrial Survey and Charter Study New Endeavors

In Accordance With Expansion Ideas of Work

Notification of the appointment of the personnel of the industrial survey and charter study committees, two of the important fields which the chamber intends to thoroughly cover, was voted yesterday morning by the directors of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce at their weekly meeting.

It was announced some time ago that the chamber intended to survey these committees and also an industrial and national guard committee, but careful selection of those to serve on the committees has delayed action.

The charter study committee, which is to co-operate with the board of city trustees in a thorough study of the charter conditions and most advisable forms, is announced as follows: Charles Linton, James Gallagher, Emil Gundersinger, L. F.
Loeche, Herbert McDowell, W. M.
Strohler and E. H. Walthal.

The industrial survey committee is expected to find an important work in making a general estimate of present business conditions, their adaptability to the city and county, room for other industries and the needs and achievements of present enterprises. Those named to serve on this committee are Gen. M. Hume, chairman; Charles L. Linton, Miles
O. Humphreys, Speed B. Lucas, Frank
F. Minard, Al Sunderland and R. H.
Wilson. Aside from the survey of the manufacturing and commercial sectors of the community, the work of this committee will have to do with a survey of housing conditions and needs as reflected in the various phases of Fresno endeavor.

Formal notification of a weekly news letter to be sent out by the director of publicity of the chamber was made by the board after the presentation of a sample letter and the explanations of the scope of the idea outlined by Gay E. Leonard and H. E. Patterson.

The secretary was authorized to inquire further into the present status of the Coalinga roads to be included and included from the new county highways and report at the next meeting.

The following members for the months of October and November were named:

Sarkisian, Harry.
Western Auto Supply Agency.
The Elmer Brothers Music Co.
Inchausti, J. B. by Eldegary.
November.

Kanikawa, Brothers & Co.
Glenn Drug Company.

Coalinga Court Cases Appealed

Holding that the acting city rec-order had no jurisdiction to hear the case or impose judgment, attorneys for J. B. Nealon yesterday appealed to the Superior court from the verdict of the Coalinga monitorial court. In a trial before the latter Nealon was found guilty of battery and was fined $50.

A second Coalinga case appealed was that of Frank Nagle, found guilty and sentenced to pay a fine of $300 and serve a 90 day jail sentence for illegal sale of intoxicating liquors. Attorneys for Nagle have their appeal on allowed errors during the trial, 46 exceptions being taken to the rulings of the court.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 25.—The engine and keel of the steamer Aberdeen, wrecked outside the Golden Gate January 27, 1915, with a loss of all on board, has been washed up on the ocean beach. The boat was used to dump refuse from Oakland into the ocean and it was supposed that in dumping her cargo in a heavy storm the Aberdeen overturned.

POLICE OFFICER ASKS PROBATION

Shoun Pleads Guilty and Seeks Clemency
of Court

After entering a plea of guilty to information charging him with exortation, Robert Shoun, ex-patrolman in the Fresno police department, presented an application for probation in arrangement proceedings held yesterday before Superior Judge St. F. McCormick.

Shoun was released on the same bond imposed by the examining magistrate, in the sum of $2,000, for his appearance in court on December 5 at 3 p. m. to receive his sentence.

Judge McCormick ordered the application for clemency to be referred to Probation Officer H. A. Seaborn for investigation and report. During the proceedings Shoun, through his counsel, E. A. Williams, waived the right of the information and entered his plea.
The charges against the former officer will have a speedy termination, less than three weeks being due to elapse between the date of the crime to the date of judgment. Shoun was held in custody in the proceedings before Justice Briggs on last Monday.

By his plea Shoun admits his guilt to accepting a bribe of $75 from a Astor Miskin, an Orange avenue rancher for failure to arrest the latter for alleged incestuous toward some young woman claimed to the officer that a man, identified as Miskin, had been following them.

A DAY OF THANKS
---The day you buy an Apex Electric Washer you'll have much to be thankful for.
Today is Thanksgiving Day. We have many things to be thankful for. How about you and your wash days? Are you thankful that you are able to finish your work early on those days?
Are you thankful that you do not have to bend over a wash tub, or depend upon a washerwoman? If you are not, you should own an Apex Electric Washing Machine, then you would have something to be thankful for. The worries of wash day will be pleasures instead, and you can be truly thankful for your foresight in purchasing an Apex.
Give One For Christmas
Do you want to give a present that your wife will remember for years to come? Do you want to save her hours of labor over the wash tub, and save her health and strength? If so, buy her an Apex. The investment will repay you.
Our New Home
On or about January 1st we will move to our new store at 932 Van

DRILLING IS AGAIN ACTIVE

Mining Report Shows a Total of 17 Wells During Past Week

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—Oil field operations reported to the U. S. Geological Survey during the week ending November 23, 1919, show seventeen new wells started, as compared with nine during the previous week. The total new wells this year is 624, as compared with 618 at the same date last year.

Tests for water shut-off this week numbered sixteen, as compared with twenty-six during the previous week. Yearly total to date 1919: total to same date last year 708.

Deepening or re-drilling jobs this week numbered fifteen, as compared with twenty during the previous week. Yearly total to date 1919: total to same date last year 136.

Deputy Supervisor R. N. Ferguson has resigned his position with the California State Mining Bureau to take a technical position with the U. S. Geological Survey, dealing with the development and conservation of petroleum deposits. Mr. Ferguson has been appointed to fill the vacancy.

OILMAN IS INJURED

TAPT, Nov. 26.—Mark Long, one of the Standard's oldest employees on Nov. 16, had the misfortune a few days ago to have a heavy spider fall on his right heel crushing that member so badly that Dr. Newton has been caring for it since. He will be laid up from work for several days.

Begin Draining of Oil Pools in Texas

DALLAS, Nov. 26.—The Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation began Saturday to run oil from Devol, Okla., just across the river from Burkburnett, in Hamilton. This will help materially to better the already improving conditions at Burkburnett. The daily average of crude being run from the field Saturday was almost 100,000 barrels, and the daily output for the coming week may be expected to go well above this amount.

The Sinclair Oil Company's well north of a block 21, on the south bank of the Red River, has been opened up and allowed to flow several lines to relieve the pressure, and is now estimated at better than 2000 barrels. It is still waiting for pipe line connections.

But one new completion is reported in the Desdemona field, the No. 2, J. L. Jones of the Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas Company, which is making 1000 barrels. It is about a mile and a half west of the town of Desdemona. Two miles and a half southeast of Desdemona, near the Pruthi-Comanche county line, the Tex-Penn Oil Company has a dry hole on the Eugene Gillick tract, at a depth of 2500 feet, and is planning to abandon it.

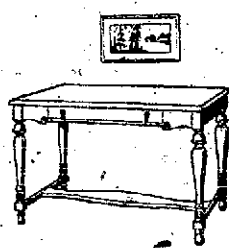

In the Ranger pool, a number of wells are reported nearing completion, most of them at or near Pecos, N. M., which has furnished most of the production for many weeks. The wells now reported making oil, as they are being drilled in, are not showing so well as the earlier ones in this locality, and it appears that extensive drilling is rapidly draining the oil-strata here.

STOP DRILLING IN DEVIL'S DEN

TAPT, Nov. 26.—W. E. Ragsdale, former city trustee of Taft and one of the owners of the old Alameda hotel, has given up the oil development in Devil's Den country for the winter. Mr. Ragsdale, who owns a big fruit ranch near Folsom, has also given up ranch life for the winter and is spending a few days in Taft looking for a location in which to engage in business.

ASK MORE SHIPS FOR PACIFIC TRADE

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—The government of the Philippines through the governor general is to join with the Pacific coast states in asking the allocation of more vessels to establish new trade routes across the Pacific, the chamber of commerce announced here today. Deepening of Manila harbor in order to accommodate the new trade lines expected may be undertaken soon, according to the governor-general's letter to the chamber.

The Pacific coast delegation that will appear before the shipping board in Washington on December 1, represents the chambers of commerce and port authorities of San Diego, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Portland, Tacoma and Seattle. The delegation from San Francisco will be Charles C. Moore and Leon G. Levy; Tacoma, James H. Davis; Portland, W. D. R. Dodson and C. W. Holston; Los Angeles, Christopher M. Gordon and Clarence H. Watson; San Diego, William Kotter.

Those delegates were chosen as a result of a conference here of the commercial and shipping interests of these cities to frame a program to present to the shipping board, calling for a more general allocation of ships to this coast.

TOLL HOUSE COUPLE WEDS
CLOVIS, Nov. 26.—Boyle A. Burton and Miss Stella M. Bets were united in marriage at 3 o'clock afternoon at the home of Frank Hauer, in this city. Rev. O. L. Russell officiating. Following a wedding trip of a week to the bay cities, the couple will return to Toll House to reside.

LOCATE LAND FOR DRILLING OF OIL

PATAGONIA, (Arg.), Nov. 26.—Location of land for oil drilling is covering a large extent of country in Southern Argentina. The San Pedro Oil and Gas Company has claim on 12,000 acres along the Whiststone Mountains, west of the San Pedro River, and the belt in which petroleum is suspected runs southward to the border along the western and southern slopes of the Huachuc Mountains. Of late there has been much localizing around Canilla, fifteen miles north of the line, and south of the Canilla range. Most of this localizing is being done by Patagonia and Nogales people.

HOUSEWIVES CONDUCT WAR AGAINST TURKEY

OAKLAND, Calif., Nov. 26.—The Housewives' League of Oakland today adopted the slogan "omit the turkey" and decided that the members should make a house to house canvass tomorrow to urge each housewife to do without turkey this Thanksgiving because of the high price. Plans to reduce the price of milk, bread and eggs by limiting consumption were made.

TULARE, Nov. 26.—Holstein stock from the herds of W. J. Hixon, R. C. Sturgeon and Alex. Whaley of Tulare; J. R. Phillips and L. Y. Montgomery of Fresno; H. J. Stevens of Visalia and the Post-car ranch of Fresno, was auctioned off here yesterday. The sale was conducted by Colonel Ben A. Rhoades of Los Angeles and Geo. W. Bell of Tulare. One of Hixon's heifers sold for $110.

YOU CAN SEE SANDOW PERFORM

A DISCOVERY THAT BENEFITS MANKIND

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare.

In 1835 Newton originated the vacuum process for condensing milk with cane sugar to a semi-liquid form.

In 1883 Horlick at Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a dry powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar.

This product HORLICK named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate, has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

BONNER ATTACKS RAISIN COMPANY

Says Price Here Should Not Have Exceeded 10 5-8 Cents

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Charles F. Bonner of Fresno, Calif., testified before the federal trade commission today that the California Raisin Company's 1919 package for midwest raisins was excessive. The price, he said, should not have exceeded 10 5-8 cents. Bonner said the raisin crop had increased not more than one-quarter of a cent a pound over 1918.

CLAIM BOLSHEVIST PLOT, EAST INDIES

THE HAGUE, Nov. 26.—The Dutch East India government has revealed what is alleged to be an extensive Bolshevik plot to overthrow the Dutch East India government under the guise of an anti-Japanese boycott. Chinese Bolsheviks it is understood, launched the campaign, advising the East Indian Chinese not to trade with the Dutch East India government, but to deposit their funds in a Japanese bank. Agitation was conducted throughout the patronizing of certain financial institutions conducted by Chinese. These latter, according to the Netherlands government agents, were found to be Bolshevik sympathizers who had planned to use the funds thus secured to carry on Bolshevik propaganda in the Far East. A recent telegram from Makassar, Java, today, announced the boycott has been ended.

CANTU REGRETS POLICEMAN'S ACT

SALENSBURG, Calif., Nov. 27.—Governor Cantu, today officially informed United States Consul Boyle that the government of Lower California disavowed the act of a police officer who had recently forced his way into the consulate at Mexicali and attempted an arrest. Governor Cantu further said the officer would be disciplined and that the government of Lower California disavowed the act of a police officer who had recently forced his way into the consulate at Mexicali and attempted an arrest. # LAWMAKERS TO ASK MORE PAY

LONDON, Nov. 24.—Labor members of Parliament here are agitating for an increase in their parliamentary salaries, which is now about £1,000 a year. The present salary, which represents a pre-war purchasing value of approximately £300, is regarded as hopelessly inadequate for the maintenance of a legislator in London. It is indicated that a proposal is to be put forward for a modified plan of payment by attendance. The plan, which is being canvassed, is that every member of Parliament living out of London should be entitled to travelling expenses and a subsistence allowance of 45 for every day on which he attends Parliament.

ROYALIST CAMPAIGN BEGINS IN HUNGARY

HOW COST OF SUGAR GROWS

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—A carload of sugar originally consigned by the Hodelman Sugar Company, Nunda, N. Y., to J. P. Hadenman and Company, Chicago, rolled about undiscovered for a month, was re-sold four times, and piled up 1.1-2 cents a pound additional cost to the consumer, according to a statement today by R. J. Poul, city food director.

Containing 54,250 pounds of sugar, the car moved first to Fall Creek, Ky., then in turn to Omaha, back to Chicago, and finally to Minneapolis, total charges of $2,458 piling up against the carload as it passed from broker to broker, said Mr. Poul. His last sale was only for the month ending November 15, he said, and the car, so far as we know, still is rolling.

CHICAGO, Nov. 26.—The federal state senate late today passed the federal suffrage amendment by a vote of 42 to 3. The Non-Intervention League will declare all companies to be public utilities and under the control of the state railroad commission with power to fix prices of gasoline and oil was introduced by Senator William J. Church and referred to committee.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 26.—Lieutenant H. A. Halverston, San Francisco, aviator, who landed in a rice field near Marysville late yesterday, was not injured beyond minor bruises. It was announced today at Matamor field, lieutenant Halverston came to Matamor field this morning and continued by rail to the Presidio where he is stationed. A mishap to the oil pressure caused a forced landing, it was said. The airplane was not seriously damaged.

PERSHING TO BE ON COAST, SOON

Will Reach San Francisco on Inspection Trip About January 21

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—The thirty-first of General Pershing's inspection tour of the United States and possessions here today, shows the trip will cover completely the manufacturing and training machinery erected during the months of war. The more than one hundred camps, aviation fields and munition plants will be visited so that General Pershing may recommend to Secretary Baker a comprehensive plan for maintaining adequate facilities to back up military establishments. Leaving Washington December 2, General Pershing will visit Camp Lee, Va., as the initial stop and then move through the southeastern department, arriving at his headquarters, Charleston, S. C., December 7. The central department is next in line. The holidays will be spent with his son and his sister at Lincoln, Neb., a new start being made west about January 5.

Officers of Pershing's staff estimated they would arrive at Portland, Ore., about January 17 and San Francisco about January 21. Inspections in the eastern and northeastern departments had been postponed until later.

A war correspondent that Mexican conditions had an influence on the timing of the schedule. General Pershing, it was thought here, had purposely delayed visiting border posts so that an erroneous interpretation would not be placed upon his trip there.

General Pershing will reach Camp Taylor, December 11 and the arranged schedule beyond that point follows: Aviation experimental plant, Dayton, Ohio, Tuesday, December 16; Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio, Wednesday, December 17; Dodge recuperator plant, Detroit, Mich., Thursday, December 18; Camp Custer, Battle Creek, Mich., Friday, December 19; Headquarters central department, Chicago, Saturday, December 20 and Sunday, December 21; St. Louis, Monday, December 22; Laclede, Mo., Wednesday, December 23; Lincoln, Neb., Wednesday, December 24.

Plans to be visited after Christmas include Salt Lake City, Utah; Portland, Ore.; Camp Lewis, American Lake, Wash.; Mather field, Sacramento, Calif.; Headquarters western department, San Francisco; Arcadia, and March fields, Los Angeles, Calif.; Camp Kearny, San Diego, Calif.; Douglas, Ariz.; Camp Boyd, El Paso; Camp Travis, Camp Stanley, Kelly field, San Antonio; Headquarters southern department; Edlington field, Houston, Tex.; Fort Bliss, Okla.; Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark., and return to Washington.

AMERONGEN SERVICE NOW VERY IRREGULAR

AMERONGEN, Holland, Nov. 12.—Although the former German emperor appears to have found the quiet life of his personal suite have grown out of village existence, and recently there has been several changes in the ex-emperor's entourage.

Since Dr. Euerstner, who for many months acted as personal physician to the former emperor and empress, departed for Berlin, about six weeks ago, there have been two new German doctors at Benlack castle. The latest Dr. Alfred Haecker, who came from Cologne a few days ago.

General von Dommers, who has been chief of the personal suite for several months, has returned to Berlin, either on a vacation or permanently, and has been succeeded by Friedrich von Biez of Berlin, who was a court official under the old regime.

Commissar Keller, lady-in-waiting to the ex-empress, remains in service, however. A system of vacations in Germany has been inaugurated for the former royal pair's personal servants.

WORLD CROPS OF FOOD VERY LARGE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Bumper world crops of corn, potatoes, barley, rye, sugar beets and rice for this year are shown in estimates compiled by the international institute of agriculture at Rome, made public today by the department of agriculture. The production of wheat, oats and flax seed, however, show a decrease from the average for the five years ended in 1917.

Wheat production in fourteen countries, excluding the central powers, will reach 4,060,000,000 bushels, 16.5 per cent of the five-year average. Corn will amount to 3,120,154,000, 14.3 per cent greater than the crop produced last year and 4.4 per cent greater than that produced for the last five years. Other crops the department's cablegram shows are estimated as follows: Rye, 160,114,000 bushels, 124 per cent five-year average. Oats, 2,082,755,000 bushels, 90.3 per cent. Sugar beets, 10,241,000 tons, 114.3 per cent.

NORTH DAKOTA
GOVERNOR TAKES OVER COAL MINES

Linn J. Frazier

Linn J. Frazier, governor of North Dakota, whose action in taking over the coal mines in the name of the state won for him national prominence. Governor Frazier made an agreement with the miners whereby they returned to work at the old wage scale but with the distinct provision that all coal mined by them would be sold at cost. It is said that Governor Frazier's action has won for him a host of friends in the state who are planning to boom him for the presidency at the head of the new labor party.

YOU WILL BE THANKFUL that you bought a FIG GARDEN HOME ACRE

Seven Years Ago Fresno Ended on the North at Belmont Ave.

—You have much to be thankful for on this Thanksgiving Day. You are living in Peace and Plenty—enjoying bountifully the joys of life which the wonderful advantages and opportunities of Fresno offer.

—But as you look backward in retrospect today, you will realize that you missed great opportunities in the past which, if you had taken advantage of them, would have given you a very great thing to be thankful for today—Financial Independence.

—Seven years ago Fresno ended on the north at Belmont avenue.

—Look at it today! Belmont avenue is almost the dividing line between its northern and southern limits!

—As you realize this fact, think what will happen in the next seven years. Fresno will go right on marching northward, enveloping the Garden Home Acres within its limits, for right now it is knocking at the door of this wonderful tract. AND THEN THIS PROPERTY WILL NOT BE ACRES, BUT CITY LOTS with a tremendously increased value as city home property.

—At that time, not far distant, will you again look backward with regret on a missed chance for acquiring the choicest of Fresno home real estate?

—Make this a Thanksgiving Day of OPPORTUNITY. Come out and choose a Garden Home Acre. Have a beautiful home site for your own villa home—out where your family will get the benefit of fresh air and sunshine, and freedom. See the value of your acre—EQUAL IN SIZE TO TEN CITY LOTS—steadily advance in value. On the Thanksgiving Days to come you will count your investment ONE OF THE GREATEST THINGS TO BE THANKFUL FOR. SALESMEN WILL BE ON THE TRACT ALL DAY TODAY.

Garden Home Acres Have Many Advantages

Out here we have high ground, offering unexcelled facilities for perfect drainage.

Out here we have the longest extension of the street car line—the Wishon Avenue line running right through Garden Tract.

Out here we have Van Ness Boulevard.

Out here we have the advantages of town and country combined without any disadvantages.

We have the State Normal College and the new million-dollar Fresno High School (soon to be under construction) only 5 minutes away.

All this within 10 minutes from the center of the city.

Improvements to be Made by The J. C. Forkner Organization

More than $100,000 will be spent in beautifying Garden Tract!

Parks will be made. Avenues graded and lined with ornamental trees and shrubbery.

A high-class modern water system will be installed to furnish an abundant supply of water for domestic and irrigation purposes.

Each Garden Acre will be planted to 50 Kadota Fig Trees.

And the tract otherwise improved, beautified and restricted to make it worthy of homes of the finest character.

The J. C. Forkner Organization Agrees To Do:-

—To plant 50 Kadota Fig Trees on each acre.

—To care for these trees 3 years free of charge.

—To grade the many miles of avenues and line them with ornamental trees and shrubbery.

—To care for these streets and trees 3 years free of charge.

—To build a water plant to furnish water for irrigation and domestic use to each acre.

—To pipe water to each acre free of charge.

—And back of these agreements is the great J. C. Forkner Organization which guarantees that they will be carried out in best possible manner.

LECTURES MAY BE HELD HERE

Chamber Discusses List of Speakers Presented by Secretary

A tentative program to be adopted if possible, during the month of December, of the city auditorium to accommodate large gatherings adequately, which will bring nationally known men as speakers to Fresno through the winter was outlined before the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday by Secretary H. Patterson.

In reading the list of men and the subjects which they would speak on if they were secured to lecture here, the secretary referred to the request of the chamber that the city trustees advise ways and means to make the auditorium a better place for public gatherings.

This action was taken at a recent meeting of the chamber and the secretary was instructed to refer the matter to the mayor and the board.

If such a program were to be carried out it was declared, that the members of the organization and the public at large would derive a great stimulus from the gatherings as the speakers and the topics which they would handle are of civic and national importance.

The list of available speakers and their topics was announced by the secretary as follows:

Charles E. Wilson, Chicago, Ill.—What is the Chamber of Commerce For?

Edward F. Trefz, Los Angeles, Calif.—Future of the Pacific Coast.

Henry Galtz, New York City—The Soul of Things.

Dr. D. F. Garland, Dayton, Ohio—The City Manager Plan.

Flora Dan, A. Reed, Washington, D. C.—Motives of the War.

Dr. C. Smith, Albany, N. Y.—How to Get New Industries.

George Cove, New York City—Housing Problem.

Dr. John Nolan, Cambridge, Mass.—City Planning.

Dr. E. H. Hutton, New York City—Municipal Charter Revision.

Lawson Ford, New York City—Taxation and Public Revenue.

David C. Adie, Rochester, N. Y.—How to Get Along With Labor.

SUPERIOR COURT NOTES

Special letters of administration were yesterday granted to Cora M. Henderson in the estate of William Henderson, of which she is the single beneficiary. Aside from Mrs. Henderson, the widow, the sole beneficiary to the decedent's estate, Pauline Gorman, is the sum of $2,000. The partition of the estate is valued at more than $10,000.

The will of Henry Schwabenhund, deceased, was yesterday admitted to probate on the petition of Anne Schwabenhund, the widow and sole beneficiary. The partition of the estate is worth more than $10,000.

Judge H. Z. Austin yesterday granted the petition of Frank and Lena Halfer for the adoption of a 5-month-old Ruth Mary Galsbor, the mother of the infant, Mrs. Hazel Galsbor, agreed to the adoption.

Articles for the incorporation of the Reddy-Riverside Farming Company were filed with the county clerk. The company is capitalized for $50,000 with the following as incorporators: S. H. Rasmussen, K. H. Hanson, and Ben H. Carlson, all of Reddy.

A divorce action was instituted by Oliver Becker against Roy F. Becker. The official valuation of the estate of the late George C. Skogard is $44,542.14, of which the realty amounts to $45,600.

A petition was filed by Jennie Romano, as guardian for her child, Mary, against Percy Myers, to institute against the Southern Pacific railroad for the death of the children's father, Percy F. Myers, in a crossing accident on Dec. 17, 1917. On the finding that the accident was partially due to contributory negligence on the part of the dead man, she seeks to compromise the action for $500.

NEW HOME RULE BILL VERY SOON

LONDON, Nov. 26.—A new Home Rule bill setting up two Parliaments in Ireland, with a council of senate of forty to be chosen by the two houses, is expected to be introduced in Parliament within the next two weeks. Daily sessions are being held by the cabinet committee in charge of the measure, the subject matter of which is in charge of a sub-committee under the chairmanship of J. Austen Chamberlain, chairman of the exchequer. Control of the measure has always been a point of sharpest difference between the two parties. The bill has been delayed, and was one of the topics upon which the Irish convention was disappointed. Control of police is another knotty point.

MANY DESERTIONS FROM U.S. ARMY

WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Desertions from the army from March 1 to November 17 of this year averaged more than 500 a month, with less than 17 per cent of the men appearing before the war department for punishment today. The average period of confinement in army disciplinary cases has been reduced from 6.83 years to 1.55 years, clemency having been recommended in 81 per cent of the 5,027 cases reviewed. Figures made public today show. In 2,075 cases the entire unexpired portion of the sentence was remitted.

FLOOD OF AMERICANS EXPECTED AT FRONT

PARIS, Nov. 26.—Hotel men, seeing fortunes in the expected flood of Americans and other tourists next year, are jumping to erect "barrack hotels" along the battle fronts. The National Chamber of Hotelkeepers, co-operating with the government, is seeking private capital to put up such temporary buildings during the winter.

Officials of the specialized road most of the hostels now operating at towns on the front have patrons "sleeping in halls and even on billiard tables." The first efforts are being directed toward making habitable hotels that were damaged during the war and inducing owners of places destroyed to rebuild them.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Making her last trip as a United States naval transport, the George Washington docked today after having taken Albert of the Belgians and his infant son, Prince Leopold, to Europe from Newport News.

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Nov. 26

An increase in rates amounting to practically 25 per cent was granted by the state public service commission today to the Salt Lake, Garfield & Western Railroad and the Inland Railroad companies.

PLAN TO BUILD $200,000 HOTEL

Los Banos Citizens Hold Meeting to Discuss Building Plan

LOS BANOS, Nov. 26.—Those concerned in the building up of this city since the disastrous fire of last August, met yesterday afternoon to discuss the building of a modern hotel.

S. P. Galvin was appointed chairman of the meeting. A. W. Cornell, an architect of San Francisco, was present and submitted a plan, by rough sketch for the proposed structure. Miller & Liss have offered the four lots on the main space which the old Hotel Los Banos occupied for the sum of $20,000, the amount to be put in as stock in the new company. The building as presented by the architect will be 150 by 150 feet, three stories of brick or concrete, and will cost $200,000 without furniture. The company estimates that the hotel when completed will cost $200,000. The lower floor is to be occupied by stores and a grill, while the upper stories will contain forty odd rooms, with bath. The building will be steam heated.

A committee was appointed to canvass the community for stock in the proposed company. The committee consists of J. V. Toscano, E. W. Thieroff, L. C. Cordell, J. M. Hunsaker, R. A. Wilson, W. E. Hurch, P. S. Garcia, S. R. Dismukes and D. W. Wallis.

WILL SPEAK ON WAR IN PERSIA

DINUBA, Nov. 26.—On Friday evening of this week, at the Presbyterian church, Rev. E. T. Allen of Persia, will deliver an address on his experiences in that country during four years of the horrors of war, with its massacres and privations. Mr. Allen is said to be a most interesting speaker.

NAVAL OFFICER ENDS FURLOUGH

LINDSAY, Nov. 26.—Lieutenant Commander Fred E. Bass left, with his family on Sunday night, for San Pedro, where he has been ordered to report after a month's furlough spent with relatives in Lindsay. Commander Bass is an Annapolis man and was in the submarine service during the war.

TULARE STOCK IS POISONED

TULARE, Nov. 26.—When Geo. C. Gorman, a prominent Tulare rancher, whose ranch is located six miles east on the Lindsay road, went into his corral this morning he found two horses and five choice brood sows dead, the result of squirrel poison. A mouse was found in a critical condition, but the arrival of a veterinarian saved her. The stock in some manner broken into an out-house where poisoned barley had been stored for future extermination of squirrels.

HOLD FUNERAL SERVICES

TULARE, Nov. 26.—Two funerals were held here today, one for the remains of Antonio Leandro, 7 1/2 months old, who died on Monday night of pneumonia. It was held from the Goble undertaking parlors.

The funeral of Miss Frances Eaton was held from the Methodist church at 1:30 this afternoon. Many beautiful floral pieces were grouped about the casket. Musical selections were furnished by Mrs. G. W. Parker and P. S. Woolley. At the cemetery the beautiful ritual service of the Eastern Star was given by the local chapter. Pallbearers were C. O. Baxter, C. E. Weidman, W. E. Flagg, M. G. Cottle and J. E. Noyes.

GRAND MASQUERADE BALL

Astoria, Thanksgiving night, 1919 in price. Prize waltz and one-step.

LODGE OFFICIAL IS ENTERTAINED

DINUBA, Nov. 26.—The Dinuba lodge of Redskins held a most profitable business session last evening, followed by refreshments served in honor of Mrs. Clara Breckenridge of Orosi, district deputy president, who was in attendance. The organization has filled a large barrel with fruits, raisins and other good things of local production, which will be shipped at once to the orphans at Gilroy. To lighten the holiday season for the little ones there.

Frederick M. Brooke is spending the Thanksgiving holiday with his family here. Mr. Brooke was formerly pastor of the local Christian church but is now employed by the Ellison-White Chateaux.

E. Morris and H. Hurst motored into the mountains early this morning. They intend to go as far as Crossman's, back of Fresno, Alder Springs, and return by night.

STOCK SALES

TOTAL $16,000

TULARE, Nov. 26.—A total of $16,000 was realized in yesterday's stock sales held at the local auction under the auspices of the California Breeders' Sale and Pedigree company.

Queen Mary, brought the highest price, being sold to R. L. Higgins of Modesto for $100.

W. J. Hildon of Tulare sold the highest priced cow, Aggie, Arts Farley, who weighs 1,200 lbs.

ENTERTAINS LEAGUE MEMBERS

TULARE, Nov. 26.—The Wednesday Evening Club tonight entertained members of the local post of the American Legion as special guests. The dance in honor of the occasion was given at the Wagoner's club house, invitations being extended by Mrs. G. W. DeBolt.

Teachers' Institute Closes Its Sessions

BAKERSFIELD, Nov. 26.—A series of resolutions were passed in the closing session of the teachers' institute today. A resolution to join and support the great national movement to secure a liberal increase in teachers' salaries, and increasing the Smith-Towner bill, which provides for a secretary of education in the President's cabinet, was adopted. Another resolution along the same line was in favor of an amendment to the present state law which limits the special tax for school districts to 30 mills. A change to 75 mills is advocated. Other resolutions endorsed the Junior Red Cross in the schools, the sale of Christmas seals throughout the county, and the aiders' memorial hill in Bakersfield.

C. L. Phelps, president of the Santa Barbara Normal school, was the principal speaker of the day, his subject being "Some Essentials in Teaching and Caring on Professional."

Interesting round-table discussions were held. The institute closed with expressions of appreciation to County Superintendent L. E. Chenoweth for the instruction sessions held.

THANKSGIVING PARTY

LINDSAY, Nov. 26.—One of the most successful affairs ever undertaken by the Methodist church of Lindsay was the Thanksgiving party given Monday night. Maxwell hall was taxed to its capacity to accommodate the congregation and its friends who gathered for a basket supper, followed by a program and songs. Gifts of food and clothes and money were brought for the needy of the town who will have reason to give thanks for very generous donations. These gifts are being distributed under the direction of Mesdames Hallett, Green and Elberhardt.

Social affairs are to be held month at the church under the direction of the new pastor, Rev. Thomas Jordan.

Orosi Farms District is famous for its non-killing frost climate and fig trees here start bearing two years sooner than any place else. That means a two-year head start on the other fellow.

THE CREAM OF THE OROSI FARM TRACT IS NOW FOR SALE

IT WILL BE PLANTED TO FIGS AND SOLD IN 20, 40, 60 ACRE TRACTS

When Orosi Farms was put on the market some two years ago, a small block of the best land was withheld for development purposes. The tract is all sold and improved except this small block, and now we are planting it to figs to be sold in small tracts.

We level the land, plant the trees, put in pumping plants and irrigating systems on each tract and guarantee a 100 per cent stand of trees. All you have to do is go on the land and take care of the trees after the hard, undesirable work has been finished. Doesn't the proposition appeal to you—especially when the land lies in the heart of a developed, thickly settled community, with a railroad and depot on the land, with churches and schools at hand, and every modern convenience?

—An individual Pumping Plant installed and —a complete pipe system, put in, guaranteeing water to every tree.

THIS IS A FROSTLESS DISTRICT

—One of the Very Few in this Country

Nothing kills oranges like frost, and in the past few years, when frost has caused millions of dollars' damage in all parts of the state, not one penny of damage was done in the Orosi Farms district.

So you can see that figs planted here will start bringing in the cash at least two years ahead of trees planted elsewhere.

RU-BER-OLD and MALTHOID READY ROOFINGS

Built-in Quality

The only way to know the quality of ready roofing is to put it on your house, barn, or other building and wait for two or three years. You can't tell the good from the poor merely by looking at it or feeling of it. It is the hidden qualities that count. Ready roofing must be carefully made from the best materials if it is to stand the test of time and weather.

Ru-ber-old and Malthoid have attained their position as the standard of ready roofing because quality has been built into them. The Paraffine Companies, Inc., with their complete organization, scour the world for the best materials. We make our own felt from carefully selected rags. We maintain our own refineries in order to get the highest grade of asphalt and similar products. The manufacture of Ru-ber-old and Malthoid is carried on from beginning to end within the one organization.

No effort or cost is spared in manufacturing Ru-ber-old and Malthoid. Experts constantly supervise every process. Tests are made continually to see that all material is kept up to the high standard which has been set.

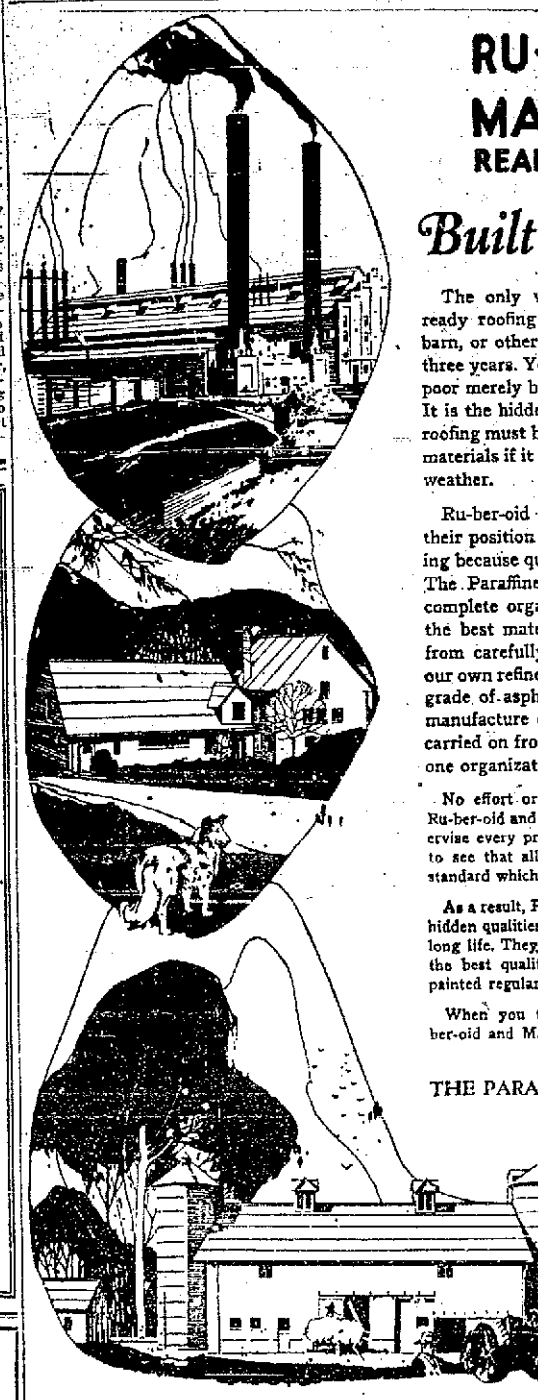

As a result, Ru-ber-old and Malthoid have those hidden qualities which give them an exceptionally long life. They will not dry out or rot. They are the best quality roofings that can be made. If painted regularly, they will last for years.

When you think of building, remember Ru-ber-old and Malthoid.

We know what has been done in the way of development on Orosi Farms. We know the soil is unequalled, and we know that fig trees planted here at the age of three years are bigger than trees planted elsewhere at the age of five years. We know this community to be a garden spot, and we want this last block of land particularly a garden spot. That is why we are planting it ourselves. We want a 100% stand of trees, and by planting it and caring for it for one year ourselves, we can guarantee it.

LUDENDORFF'S OWN STORY

68—REVOLUTION IN RUSSIA HAD DISASTROUS EFFECT ON THE GERMAN GOVERNMENT AND PEOPLE

Fears of Revolt in Germany; Unrest Became So Great That Ludendorff and Hindenburg Asked Kaiser to Remove Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg; Request Met With Rebuff; Military Defeat Seemed Inevitable Unless National Spirit Changed

LUDENDORFF SAYS GERMAN DECLINE BEGAN WITH OUTBREAK OF RUSSIAN REVOLUTION

With the outbreak of the Russian revolution Germany set out to promote disintegration. From Switzerland and other refuges she gathered soldiers, sent them into Russia and liberally supplied them with money. Lenin was helped across Germany in a special train.

Ludendorff shows that a boomtown was the policy. The soldiers were not content to disintegrate Russia. Germany was heard from them. Radicals definitely came away from the socialist party and formed strikes in the munitions industry. Murders broke out in the navy, and the army became disaffected.

The Kaiser was forced to decree the reformation of the reactionary Prussian constitution and the granting of a more liberal franchise, which would give the workmen a greater voice in the state. He dared not fly in the face of the Reichstag majority, which was supporting Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg, even when his military chiefs made the demand.

By GENERAL ERICH VON LUDENDORFF

I deeply regret that the events which took place in Germany in the spring and summer of 1917, as I did all other manifestations of weakness. There were bound to react unfavorably on our conduct of the war, and therefore on the subsequent peace.

Looking back I can see that our decline obviously began with the outbreak of the revolution in Russia. The government was opposed on the one hand by the fear that it might spread to Germany, and on the other by the knowledge of our inability to raise the resolution and war-like ardor of the people, waning as they were through the combination of insupportable circumstances. No doubt our precarious military position, and later, the want of success achieved in the submarine war, of which some people had unfortunately been too confident, made it more difficult to raise our energy. It was obvious that it suffered from these causes.

But after all, owing to the collapse of the Russian revolution in the summer of 1917 was better than that of the Entente. We were justified in being hopeful. But there were other reasons for our spiritual decline. The government asked the resolution to fight, encouraged with abuses. And behind it there was the Reichstag, with no united will, in part sincerely anxious about our future, in part merely striving for power from selfish reasons.

On April 7 there was published a decree by his majesty on the franchise, only heard of it after publication. Neither the emperor nor the Imperial Chancellor, von Bethmann, ever spoke to me about internal affairs. Not was it my business to originate the questions on these subjects as internal politics had nothing to do with me.

The connection between the franchise decree and the Russian revolution was too obvious. That was what made it so difficult. If a change in the franchise was necessary—as it doubtless was—it should have been made before the war, at the latest in August, 1917, with a grand gesture, as the free gift of a strong government.

Work of all the government now made the center of political discussion, instead of keeping it clear of party strife. Besides, apart from a small section this step pleased only the enemy, who probably grasped the reason for it with gusto. At every step the government should escaped from the control of their leaders.

The decree produced no soothing effect, as the government had hoped. It was too late for that, and the government itself was too weak and too incapable of producing anything new from its own resources.

The people were not much affected by the Prussian franchise; only a few politicians and newspapers took a lively interest in it. Unfortunately it proved an instrument to widen the split at home and intensify the secret agitation. No one in the army took any interest in the question. The navy, which was nearer home and not engaged in active operations, is said to have been less apathetic.

The thought of elections in time of war only filled me with anxiety. They were bound to reduce our strength still further. I also considered an election to be an inducement towards the soldier at the front, who was prevalent at that time, take no part in it. I was drawn into the party conflict by partisans and opponents of the right to vote, although I never expressed my opinion on the matter in public. I often spoke of this to the ministers.

Personally, I hoped a solution of the franchise difficulty might be found in a professional qualification, such as Bismarck had had in mind. This, perhaps, might have impacted new vigor to our stagnant political life. As that time we had not yet reached that stage. Now we have a new, vague catchword, "Anchoring the workmen's councils in the constitution," which again points to some sort of representation by professions, at any rate in the first instance. It is inconceivable that only one class should have constitutional rights and the rest be sent empty away.

Walked into Entente Traps.

Further events announced the waning of our order—which had been allied to such kindling words in the Reichstag on the 27th February—before the Russian revolution. In utter disregard of the destructive intentions of the enemy, the idea of peace by reconciliation made ever greater progress among the German people. It was swallowed most eagerly by those who feared the effects of victory on their political aspirations.

During May and June a number of delegates, with facilities from the government, undertook journeys to Stockholm, Austria-Hungary and Switzerland. We walked into the traps of the entente. I was against these journeys and so was the commander-in-chief in the marches. The entente decided in favor of them, and the deputies of the general staff in Berlin had to prepare the passports. Count Czernin also sent the Socialist leaders of Austria-Hungary to Stockholm.

From these, supported by the Russian revolution, the laboring classes of the hostile states were to be called upon to proclaim and carry out the reconciliation of mankind. These endeavors revealed woeful ignorance of human nature, and certainly took no account of the spirit of the enemy nations, nor of our own; they did, however, in some cases pursue strictly revolutionary objects.

No impression was produced on the enemy, but with us and in Austria the fighting spirit was weakened more and more. Confidence in our strength was lost. Government allowed the conduct of affairs to slip from its grasp; and the worse of it was, it abandoned them, not to the people as a whole, but to certain groups which, throughout their history, had always displayed critical and never constructive faculties.

"Helots' Peace" Was on Its Way.

These assemblies and all the talk of peace and understanding suited the Entente very well. They disclosed our state of mind. But with a clear idea of national feeling, they allowed no Socialist leaders to go to the front, and declined to be bound in any way. They pursued quite different aims.

In the summer of 1917 the French Premier, Ribot, told his countrymen that the only way to win the war was to destroy Germany so clearly that no misunderstanding was possible without deliberate self-deception. No one with the slightest sense of reality could doubt that for the Entente all the beautiful catchwords were mere window-dressing, intended to deceive the multitude, and to give them the appearance of right.

The Government, the Reichstag, and most of the people took it all for gospel. In the Reichstag, for the first time in the war, Socialist revolution, the "helots' peace" (of which the Imperial Chancellor spoke to G. H. Q. about this time), which would come if we gave in before the enemy, any inclination to peace was on its way.

The High Command observed the great spiritual decline with increasing anxiety, and in view of the uncomprehending attitude of the enemy governments felt bound to draw attention to the harm that was being done to the people and the army, especially in Berlin. Thus the majestic how greatly G. H. Q. misused the support of the Imperial Chancellor. We had urged the latter far more frequently to strengthen the war-spirit of the nation.

On June 19, 1917, Field Marshal von Hindenburg wrote to him as follows, to warn him against the view that the war would be over that autumn at the latest:

These dangers (of submarine warfare) are undoubtedly recognized by clear-thinking people among our enemies. In spite of this they advocate continuation of the war. It is because they expect the collapse of Germany and her allies to take place before their own.

power of resistance at home, the growth of international sentiments, the state of our food supply, and the longing for peace to which we unfortunately give expression so often.

A revival of our internal strength would be the most potent means of persuading our enemies of the futility of prolonging the war until their own means of existence are in danger of destruction. On the other hand, every complaint of disappointed hopes; every sign of exhaustion and longing for peace on our part, or that of our allies, any talk of the alleged impossibility of standing another winter campaign, can only have the effect of prolonging the war. The wording of the Chancellor's reply, dated June 25, revealed extraordinary depression. His way of thinking differed from ours. To could find no way out of the situation, and still less could he summon up the energy to act. He was afraid of that "helots' peace," but talked about a peace by understanding, although he considered England's readiness for peace to be the necessary condition precedent, and despaired of getting Lloyd George to agree to it.

Appeal Sent to the Kaiser.

However, his view of internal conditions soon became more hopeful, as we may see from a telegram to the Emperor of July 5th.

In the meanwhile, June 27, the Field Marshal had himself written to the Emperor:

Our greatest anxiety at this moment, however, is the decline in the national spirit. It must be revived, or we shall lose the war. Even our allies need a powerful tonic, other wise there is a danger of their deserting us. For this it is necessary to solve those economic problems which are the most difficult and are of the greatest importance for the future. The question arises whether the Chancellor is capable of solving these problems—and they must be correctly solved, or we are lost!

An outward indication of the falling off of our spiritual capacity by war was afforded at the session of the Main Committee of the Reichstag on July 4. Deputy Lieberowicz made a speech, which was greeted with an uproar, in which he declared that the war was quite hopeless, and that it was quite impossible for us to win the war at all.

On this the sound of the Reichstag broke down a campaign. The Imperial Chancellor had previously been under a delusion, when he changed his mind so suddenly on July 7. Now it was perfectly clear how far we had sunk. It was impossible in this war to overcome anything was done to strengthen the people's confidence in military effort was impossible.

The War Minister agreed with us as to the bad effect of the events in Berlin on our military position, and considered it necessary to report to the Emperor on the subject. So the Field Marshal and I proceeded to Berlin on the evening of the 6th.

The Emperor, however, regarded these events as an entirely domestic affair, which had nothing to do with the military authorities, and further considered that the latter should, constitutionally, be represented by the War Minister. So our presence in Berlin on the 7th produced no result in any direction, and we returned to Kreuznach that evening.

In the next installment Gen. Ludendorff tells how Hindenburg and himself, alarmed by the unrest among the German people, forced the downfall of Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg and tried to restore morale at home.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—The plenipotentiaries of Jugoslavians did not sign the Austrian peace treaty this afternoon. The reason given was that they found they did not have the requisite powers to sign the different annexes.

Denikine Retreats

LONDON, Nov. 26.—General Denikine's army in southern Russia is retreating, and the Bolsheviks have captured ten towns in three days, according to a wireless dispatch from Moscow. Bolshevik troops are entering Ukraine, where they intend to stay, the dispatch says.

Admiral Kuchak's forces in central Siberia are retreating rapidly, according to the dispatch, and the Reds have reached a point eighty-seven miles east of Omsk.

Millo Resigns

ROME, Nov. 26.—Admiral Enrico Millo, who has acted as governor of the occupation forces of that country, has resigned the former office.

Reas-Admiral Enrico Millo recently has taken a prominent part in developments along the Adriatic coast. When General Gabriele D'Annunzio landed at Zara, south of Trieste, on Friday, November 14, he was welcomed by Admiral Millo, who later swore allegiance to the D'Annunzio movement. His action was deprecated in an official statement issued at Rome.

Deputy Marshal of the United States Edward Sever, Sheriff Thomas and four deputy sheriffs.

At midnight, the men in a union meeting voted to return to the office. They believed the strike trouble in the district had been ended. The soldiers returned to Sheridan tonight.

That what disposition would be made of the men arrested could not be learned. It is not believed they will be prosecuted under the state law, as officers doubt that any statute covers the case. It was expected probable they would be released if the mine are reopened Friday without further trouble.

BAR EXAMINATIONS

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 26.—The next bar examinations under the direction of the recently organized California Bar Examination Board, are to take place in Los Angeles on January 12 and in San Francisco on January 19. Frederick W. Kant, secretary of the board, announced here today. Applications for the examination should be made ten days before that date with the clerk of the district court of appeal, Kant announced. The board was formed to take the routine of bar examinations out of the hands of the district courts in order that they would not interfere with court calendars.

BERLIN, Nov. 26.—Assemblyman Alfred Henke, an editor of Bremen, and Fritz Geyer have been elected presidents of the independent socialist faction, with equal rights, to succeed the late Hugo Haas as leader of the independent socialist party in the Reichstag, according to the Tagblatt.

BERLIN, Nov. 25.—Following the recent announcement of the Hamburg-American Line that it would issue a new stock of preferred stock and to increase its voting power.

SHOOT ANGELES IN SPITE OF MANY APPEALS

clashes and many Mexicans. Many hundreds of names were signed to the petition.

A delegation of citizens arrived from Patal to intercede for General Angeles. It was composed entirely of prominent citizens who at different times had been given freedom of the press at the hands of Francisco Villa or his followers by General Angeles. Several students from the military college of Chapultepec, the West Point of Mexico, from which General Angeles was graduated, were permitted to have a confidential talk with him. The former students went to the military college while Angeles was assigned there as an instructor. When they were entered into the prison room where their former professor was under guard they surrounded him and holding him close to their arms, they wept for several minutes, then overcome with grief to talk. When they left the general's office, they were still wet with tears.

At 3:45 p. m. the court closed, and one hour later the judge announced the verdict, as follows:

General Felipe Angeles, you have been found guilty of rebellion, and are condemned to death.

Major Ernesto Enciso de Arce, you have been found guilty of rebellion, including the charge of desertion against you. You are sentenced to serve six years and eight months in the penitentiary.

The findings of the court martial, were delivered to the military commander to carry out the sentence.

The outcome before dawn proved the petitions for clemency unavailing.

No Personal Ambition

EL PASO, Nov. 26.—General Angeles sought no honors for himself in the event of a successful revolution against the Carranza government. This he made plain in an interview with an Associated Press correspondent last June on the eve of Francisco Villa's abortive attempt to capture Juarez. The chief executive was then in the Angeles-Lopez camp south of the city of Juarez, while preparations were going on for the investment of the border port.

In the course of his discussion regarding the aims of the revolution, General Angeles said:

"I could not be provisional president of Mexico in view of my repeated principle that I should not be the chief executive of my country."

Furthermore, even if I should be chosen for that post by my compatriots, I should not be able to serve as president. I have no preparation or training for it. A military chief in Mexico, with the great military power that success in any revolution would bring, should be able to displace the interests of the people and become a military dictator with all the tyranny that dictatorship implies.

General Angeles said he believed that after the revolution "has won its fight" a civilian should be elected; one who knows the needs of the country and will have the ability and resolution to provide them.

General Angeles said he went to Mexico in the interest of the Mexican liberal alliance, the purpose of which he said was to unite all factions warring against the Carranza government and to establish a true democracy. It was the intention of the revolution, he said, to conquer the state of Chihuahua and there receive the refugees from Mexico who then were in the United States and other countries.

When the revolutionary forces were dispersed by United States troops following the attack on Juarez, General Angeles became a fugitive in the state of Chihuahua, his forces scattered and disorganized. For months the little authentic news of the "intellectual" revolutionary leader reached the border, but it was believed in military circles that he and Villa were quickly engaged in recruiting a new revolutionary army. At the time of General Angeles' capture last week he was accompanied only by a small bodyguard, some of whom were killed in the fight with Mexican Federal troops. Several others were summarily executed.

Noted Artillerist

General Felipe Angeles was classified, before the great war, as one of the world's foremost artillerists. He had attained considerable fame as an artillery commander in the Mexican army under the late regime of President Diaz and cast his fortune with Francisco I. Madero in the revolution by which Madero seized the Mexican presidency. Subsequently General Angeles' entire skill in support of the cause of Francisco Villa against the Carranza government and was credited with planning many of the battles Villa won.

Both friends and enemies of General Angeles have declared that he was an unselfish patriot and that his hope was to bring about peace in Mexico.

He was successively student, instructor and director of the Mexican Military College, Chapultepec, and an author of several textbooks not all of which dealt with military matters.

French Decoration

Graduating from Chapultepec in 1902 he was assigned to the engineering but later to the artillery corps with rank of captain. In this latter branch he served as a member of several technical commissions, was sent to Europe to inspect artillery for the Mexican government and while there was graduated from the French artillery schools at Fontainebleau and Malilly. He wrote a textbook embodying some of his observations in Europe and France decorated him with the Cross of The Legion of Honor.

Angels was barred from returning to Mexico when Madero's revolution occurred, but when Madero was overthrown and placed in command at Chapultepec, in 1912, he was made a field commander, already having been commissioned as a general, and commanded against the cause against the bandit Zapata.

In this service he is said to have won the good will of the Mexicans by his humanitarian policies.

Helpful to Villa

When Angeles sacrificed his life as a penalty for his revolution, Angeles was first imprisoned and then banished. He returned to lend his support to Villa's various campaigns and it is declared that when Villa followed his advice the bandit was victorious. After Villa's famous raid upon Columbus, New Mexico, Angeles went to the United States and remained there for about two years.

He returned to Mexico in November, 1918, expressing the hope that he might unite the scattered revolutionary factions into a compact unit and pacify that country before it was called to account.

He accompanied Villa in the attack on Juarez, June 15, 1919, when American troops captured the Rio Grande and dispersed the revolutionists. After this incident he appeared to the United States military authorities in the name of the "fellowship which exists among military men" to define the attitude of the United States toward Mexican revolutionists but the United States authorities declined to communicate with him on the ground that he did not represent the Mexican government.

Not Self-Seeking

An evidence that General Angeles was prompted by desire to promote peace in Mexico it has been said that Villa's payroll—which was among his powers taken in the attack on Juarez—showed that while Villa's brother, Hipolito, was credited with drawing $20,000, Angeles' name was on the list at $20.

Angels was born in the town of Zauacatlan, in the state of Hidalgo, June 13, 1869. He was the son of a retired colonel who had served in Here is shown Major John H. Burns, commander of the first recruiting educational center at Camp Upton.

PARIS, Nov. 26.—Rumania is to be given another chance to sign the Austrian peace treaty. T. Morimoto of 1112 Taylor street reported to the police last night that while on the train coming from Sacramento he had been robbed of $500. He suspected a man who had been sitting next to him, he told the police.

FOR CHIROPRACTICS

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 25.—An initiative petition to place on 1920 ballot the chiropractic act defeated at the last regular session of the state legislature, qualified today. J. M. Cremin, election statistician in the secretary of state's office, said 55,000 signatures have been filed while only 55,000 are necessary to place the measure on the ballot. The act provides for creation of a board of chiropractic examiners separate from the state board of medical examiners.

You Have Watched Others Grasp Opportunities

Here's a Better One Than Theirs
---You Grasp It

James H. Moore, Pres.

Would you buy a good used car now and have the use of it all through the Winter months if you could buy just the car you want for about $125.00 less than you would have to pay for it this Spring—You're interested—Of course you are—Well, then, you are no doubt aware of the great demand and present day scarcity of good used cars, and we know this scarcity of good used cars will run well into the year of 1920—but in spite of this condition we are now displaying 40 high-grade used cars for your selection.

These cars are all late models of 1917, 1918 and 1919 and range in price from $350.00 to $2,500.00, at terms to suit your convenience. In roadsters and touring we offer for your approval—Fords—Chevrolets—Dodges—Buicks—Oldsmobiles—Reps—Mitchells—Maxwells—Studebakers—Paiges—Saxons—Willys—Cadillacs and others. As we operate the largest Used Car Sales and Service Station in the San Joaquin Valley, we naturally have a wonderful field to select our cars from. A good many of these cars we have bought outright, while many others have been placed on our grounds on consignment to be sold for the owners, and we know you are buying the best in used cars.

BECAUSE

simply to overhaul a car and then resell it is a comparatively easy task and is done nearly every day. Our methods, however, are different, for we turn the cars over to our skilled group of mechanics, who, after they have overhauled them, pass upon their worth and qualifications for good service. These skilled service engineers are keen specialists who have made a study of how to rebuild and reconstruct, if necessary, so that the cars will give a definite service to the purchaser. Steadily growing in public favor. It is plainly evident that more and more people are coming to regard high grade used cars as the most desirable to be had in the San Joaquin Valley. As you know, this company has the reputation for being notably painstaking in its selection of good used cars. And this unswerving adherence to the highest standards in dealing with its effect. Buyers have come to realize that in dealing with a firm whose bond is no better than its word they are fully protected in all transactions.

Do You Like to Clean Spark Plugs on the Road?

Make Your Spark Plugs Clean Themselves Here's A Guarantee You Can't Equal

Cleaning Spark Plugs is an unpleasant, tiresome job. If it has to be done on the road—as often happens—it is doubly so.

Put Plugs in your motor that need no attention—that clean themselves each time a cylinder fires, and do a better job than you could.

Save gasoline and oil—get more power and a quicker pick-up from your motor—by using the economical, long-life, self-cleaning PORTER PLUG.

The PORTER also keeps cylinders and valves cleaner, because of the more complete combustion of mixture.
